

Performance Fuels

The Performance Fuels Product Range

For more than 30 years, we've been developing test, reference and motorsport fuels.

We have the skills, the technical expertise and experience to maintain extensive, close development work with global engine and vehicle manufacturers and Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs), as well as test facilities, to produce performance fuels to the highest quality required.

With the complementary addition of race fuels expert ETSP in 2014, we now offer a comprehensive portfolio of test, reference, high-performance race fuels and special grades for first-fill or two-stroke engine applications, as well as reference lubricants.

All of these activities support the automotive and oil industries in producing more sustainable, clean and low-emission engines, fuels, lubricants and additives.

As such, the name Haltermann Carless stands for reliability, quality and flexibility, and the HCS Group has the resources to meet the market requirements – both for today and in the future.
